

The background of the cover is an abstract composition of horizontal, wavy bands of color. The colors range from deep blue and teal to bright yellow and orange, with some darker, almost black, bands interspersed. The overall effect is reminiscent of a sunset or a layered landscape, with the colors blending and shifting across the width of the page.

Researching and Writing your Thesis:

a guide for postgraduate students

Authors: Mary Antonesa, Helen Fallon, Anne B. Ryan,
Anne Ryan, Tony Walsh
with Linda Borys

Title: Researching and Writing your Thesis: a guide for postgraduate students.

Date: Wednesday, 05 July 2006

Authors: Mary Antonesa
Helen Fallon
Anne B. Ryan
Anne Ryan
Tony Walsh
with Linda Borys

Production editor: Shauna Busto Gilligan

Cover (Painting): Anne Ryan

Researching and Writing your Thesis:
a guide for postgraduate students

Authors: Mary Antonesa, Helen Fallon, Anne B. Ryan,
Anne Ryan, Tony Walsh
with Linda Borys

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank all the MA and PhD students who have worked with us over the years, especially, Kay Lynch, Bernie Gildea, Margaret McAdam, Ger Tracy, Paddy Flynn, Les Boyle, Mick Dolan, Niall Connors and Seán Clancy. The Quality Promotion Office at NUIM, particularly Alison Farrell, also supported the production of the book.

About the authors

Mary Antonesa is an Assistant Librarian at NUI Maynooth. Her interests include the role of libraries and information literacy in teaching and learning and also in e-learning. She is currently undertaking a Doctorate in Education at the University of Sheffield with a view to pursuing these interests further.

Helen Fallon is Deputy Librarian at NUI Maynooth. She is also subject librarian for adult and community education and anthropology. Her research interests include changing patterns of scholarly communication and gender and technology. She spent two years lecturing in librarianship at the University of Sierra Leone and has a keen interest in African women writers.

Anne B. Ryan is a Lecturer in the Department of Adult and Community Education, NUI Maynooth. She is also Course Leader for the Doctorate in Education (EdD) jointly run with the Department of Education, NUI Maynooth. Her interests include social and gender justice; adult politicisation; practice of sustainable lifestyles; discourse analysis; subjectivity; participative research and evaluation.

Anne Ryan is Professor and Head of the Department of Adult and Community Education, NUI Maynooth. Her interests include community development in Ireland and overseas; gender and development issues; adult and community education; sustainable community development.

Tony Walsh is a Lecturer in the Department of Adult and Community Education, NUI Maynooth. He is also Course Leader for the MA in Leadership Management and Defence Studies run in conjunction with the Irish Defence Forces. His interests include systemic constructivist psychotherapy; sustainable human/community development; the theory of loss and change, and transcultural community development.

Linda Borys is a Learning Disabilities Consultant at Wilfrid Laurier University (Ontario, Canada). She was a supervisor for the MA in Leadership Management and Defence Studies run in conjunction with the Irish Defence Forces for three years at NUI Maynooth. Her interests include counselling and adult education; disability, and spirituality.

CONTENTS

	Introduction	6
	Anne Ryan
	The purpose of the book	7
	The art of thesis-writing	7
	How to use this book	8
Chapter 1	Post-positivist Approaches To Research	12
	Anne B. Ryan
	Introduction	12
	Positivist views of research	13
	The context for postivism	14
	Epistemology	15
	What has prompted a move away from positivism?	16
	What do post-positivist insights mean for the researcher?	18
	Selecting a method	22
	The value of narrative	24
	The need to be reflexive	25
	Conclusion	26
Chapter 2	Constructing Your Thesis	28
	Anne Ryan and Tony Walsh
	Introduction	28
	What is a thesis?	28
	How is a thesis structured?	30
	How do I select a thesis topic?	31
	How do I formulate a research question or hypothesis?	35
	How can I be sure I take an objective angle in writing my thesis?	37
	How do I start my thesis?	38
	What is theory?	40
	What can I expect from my supervisor?	42
	What will I learn from writing a thesis?	44
Chapter 3	Sourcing Information For Your Thesis	46
	Mary Antonesa and Helen Fallon
	Introduction	46
	The internet and research	47
	Using the library for research	47
	Journals	48
	Databases	48
	Assessing quality of information	50
	Statistics	50

	Bibliographies and references	51
	Note taking and writing	53
	Conclusion	55
Chapter 4	Doing A Review Of Literature	58
	Anne B. Ryan
	Introduction	58
	What is a literature review?	58
	Summary checklist of questions to address when doing a literature review	61
	Study the writing of other authors	63
	Evaluating literature	65
	The importance of writing	67
	Improving your draft	67
Chapter 5	Methodology: Collecting Data	70
	Anne B. Ryan
	Introduction	70
	Methodology	70
	Discussing methodology in your thesis	72
	Models of data collection	74
	Sampling	84
	Post-positivist research and objectivity	87
	A list of guiding questions to help draft a methodology section for your thesis.	89
Chapter 6	Methodology: Analysing Qualitative Data And Writing Up Your Findings	92
	Anne B. Ryan
	Introduction	92
	Why analyse data?	92
	What does analysis entail?	95
	Writing up	100
	Some more guiding questions for writing up your data	101
Chapter 7	Finishing Your Thesis	110
	Anne Ryan
	Introduction	110
	The final chapter of your thesis	110
	Editing your thesis	111
	Proofreading your thesis	112
	The final touches	113
	What happens to your thesis after you have been awarded your degree?	115
	References	117